The Creek

While my Mom was growing up,
She used to walk this awesome creek.
As time has come and gone,
My Mom will talk about this special place,
She calls her creek.
It winds through the woods,
Behind my Grandmother's house,
Where I also like to go and play.
I play in the creek and splash water all around,
And from time to time I wonder,
"Did my Mom do this too?"
As the creek flows my mind flows,
With many thoughts wondering,
"Has this creek always been this neat?"
